MARKET FALLS INTO STAGNATION

New York, March 24.—The professional room traders in stocks had practically abandoned their futile efforts to move prices by the early afternoon today, when the market lapsed into stagnation.

Concern over the political outlook was advanced as the reason for the morning selling in continuation of yesterday's movement. A large part of the selling was said to originate in Boston, where Tuesday's congressional election was of most effect in its influence on opinion regarding the elections last fall. The conviction over next fall's results, however, did not serve to confirm the sellers in their determination to stay short of stocks for three days of a closed market. The obscure money outlook was a disquieting influence on stock operations. The domestic interior has been shipping currency to New York on balance during the week, but withdrawals on sub-treasury operations have been somewhat larger. Another decline in British consols made a new low record for the year and also since 1907. The New York city 4 1/2 per cent bonds were slightly steadier today, but did not rally to the subscription price. United States Steel was under some early pressure in connection with the reports of yielding prices for iron under the active competition of producers to secure orders. Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $2,621,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

What About Gas for Cooking This Summer?

If you wait until the weather is warm, you will be late and have to take your turn. People are coming in every day and asking when gas mains are to be laid on their street. It takes from two weeks to thirty days to lay gas mains and get the gas turned on in your residence.

The new gas works will be started this week and we will be ready to take orders for new customers. Don't wait until the weather gets warm and expect us to get the gas into your residence the next day.

From the outlook, we estimate that a car load of ranges and water heaters will be required for this season's demand.

You KNOW that you are thinking about gas and why delay. Come in early and arrange for your needs and get it done in time to enjoy the comfort of gas cooking. If you intend building a home always include the pipes necessary for cooking and heating. The contractor will not charge a cent more if these are included in the first plans. We will examine all the pipe work and see that it is arranged properly, free of cost.

LANDS TOPIC OF FOREST MEETING

Missoula, Mont., March 24.—The most important subject considered at the meeting of National Forest Supervisors in this city today was that of opening agricultural lands within the national forests for settlement under the homestead law. The discussion dealt principally with the problem of properly and fairly classifying the lands and determining which are strictly agricultural and suitable for settlement. The burden of opinion was that it would be difficult to tell just where and how to draw the line.

Permanent improvements on National forest reserves, was the subject of the morning session which was handled by Elmer Koch, supervisor of the Lolo forest and Supervisor Page S. Bunker.

DENY THAT GIRLS HAVE LEPROSY

Salt Lake, March 24.—While the rumor that two young lady students at the University of Utah are quarantined for leprosy in the eastern part of the city, pending an investigation by an eastern specialist has gained wide circulation, it was this morning emphatically denied by President J. T. Kingsbury of the university, Dr. S. G. Paul, city health commissioner, Dr. T. B. Beatty, secretary of the state board of health and others.

The student body was excited at the report when the story was circulated at the university this morning.

Students crowded the halls discussing the story. The instructors and President Kingsbury were besieged with questions. The fact that some of the buildings were fumigated last night because one or two students were reported to have scarlet fever did not help the matter any.

SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES.

By Beatrice Fairfax.

I called on a friend the other day, and the maid who opened the door said that her mistress was in the attic.

The day was rainy; I knew my friend and I knew her attic and that nothing short of a cyclone would bring her out of it, if she happened in. "What a frightening thing!" I mused. So without hesitation, I climbed attic stairs.

"What are you doing?" I panted, as I dropped breathlessly on the nearest trunk at hand.

"Oh, just looking over all this," with a vague gesture over the chaos. "You're sitting on Fred's coffin," she casually added.

"What?" I cried, and sprang over two or three trunks with more agility than I had considered myself capable of.

Fred, by the way, is her husband.

"I call it Fred's coffin; it's a trunk full of letters and photographs of his old sweethearts; there are shoals of them."

Reassured, I sat down again.

"I shouldn't think you would care to have them lying about," I said.

"Perhaps not, if I knew what was in them, but I have taken a solemn vow never to open that trunk. Fred ought to destroy those letters; they concern only the women who wrote them and himself. It is not right nor wise to keep them. If I were a jealous woman, I suppose I could not resist the temptation to read them."

When you're sure of his love.

"But I am not; Fred belongs to me now, and I am sure of his love. All the same, I am glad that I have never read those letters."

My friend was right, but how many women, I wonder, would be strong enough to resist that trunk of love letters.

Of course, every man woe half a dozen girls before he really falls in love, and the girl thinks so also, and much nonsense is spoken and written.

The girl wears the man's seal ring, and she really feels that she is engaged. Then one or the other goes away, and that romance is a thing of the past.

The words that are spoken do not count for much, but the written words sometimes make all sorts of trouble.

Any girl who has a brother knows how careless he is over his letters; how he leaves them in his pocket, until the pocket grows too crowded, and then they are dumped into some desk or bureau drawer and forgotten.

It is the same with photographs. A girl shows her photograph to a man, and he asks for it, as much because he feels that it is expected of him as for any other reason. It stands on his dressing table or man's shelf for a time, and then is shoved away with numerous other old photographs, in order to make room for new ones.

Or if the affair is very desperate, he puts her picture in his watchcase, and every time he opens his watch in public all his friends see her face. After a while out it comes, and another face goes in.

And so it goes on, until the real sweetheart comes, and claims her rightful place in watch and on dressing table.

Don't be so ready with your letters and photographs, dear girls. Write friendly letters, if you want to, but only give your photographs and heart sentiments to the man you really care for.

Perhaps you are a happy married woman. If so do you like to think that some other married woman is reading the silly letters you wrote to her husband years ago?

They seemed very touching and tender in the old days, but if you could hear them read today they would probably sound extremely forced and silly.

Be Careful of Your Love Letters

Just bear that in mind, girls, when you are tempted to pour out your affection in foolish love letters.

A real love letter can only be written by a person who really loves. All the great love letters of the world have been written when both parties were absolutely sure of each other's love.

If you are a wife, don't be jealous of past loves. The girls of yesterday cannot snatch your happiness from you. You are the girl of today, tomorrow and forever, if you care to be.

Don't let your husband grow to feel that he can get on without you. Be sweetheart as well as wife, and let no other woman trespass on your preserves.

Remember Browning's words:

"Be a god and hold me with thy charms. Be a man and fold me in thine arms."

Never let love lose its mystical wonder or grow commonplace.

MANY GOOD CLAIMS IN JARBIDGE CAMP

Salt Lake, March 24.—Harry C. Beeson, writing from Jarbridge camp to a friend in this city, states that he has been over the district in good shape, and that he is satisfied that there are good opportunities for mine making in many of the prospects already staked out. He states that locations have been made promiscuously, without regard to surface or underground showings, and that it is likely that many valuable relocations will be made during the coming summer.

The Bourne property he states, has some good showings, the big ledge apparently carrying much free milling gold ore. There are but few men working in the camp, however, and until operations are commenced on a larger scale and the ground has been more fully developed, it will be difficult to tell just what the future of the camp will be.

The formations have so far been a puzzle to old time prospectors and miners, and rock which has been judged worthless has, when assayed, given good returns in gold values. There are about 1000 men in the district at present, Mr. Beeson says, and though it is somewhat difficult and expensive to get supplies and provisions in, he is satisfied that as soon as the proposed Elko road is opened transportation difficulties will be satisfactorily adjusted.

S.S.S. SKIN DISEASES

Lying just beneath the outer covering or tissue-skin, is a sensitive membranous flesh in which are imbedded thousands of small blood vessels. It is through these tiny veins and arteries that nutriment is supplied from the blood to the different pores, glands and lymphatics. Thus the skin is kept healthy and free from all eruptions or disease, by pure blood. But when impurities and humors affect the circulation its nourishing properties are diminished and instead of supplying the skin with healthful properties it constantly irritates and diseases the delicate fibres, pores and glands with sharp uratic matter. Then the skin tissues inflame, swell and ulcerate and some form of skin disease appears on the surface. Applying soothing lotions, salves, etc., to the outer eruptions does not purify the blood and therefore the skin trouble can not be cured in this manner. S. S. S. cures all skin diseases by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. It cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles, and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and inflamed by acid impurities is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. Cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Poison Oak, boils, pimples, rashes, etc. Book on Skin Diseases free to all who write.
